Some of the things that set us apart related to Gift Card / Carriers:

- Dedicated Staff
- Entire manufacturing process done on site (photos)
- Packaging engineer to help bring your ideas to life.
- Tremendous library of existing dies that might be perfect for your product.

The gift card industry has experienced prolific growth in recent years and we have taken this space very seriously, developing highly efficient processes to make these items better and faster than virtually any provider on the country. Very few companies offer turnkey gift card / carrier solutions that are manufactured on site. We have conventional presses for carriers, UV presses for cards, along with diecutters, gluers, blanking equipment and high speed shrink wrapping units in our tool belt enabling us to lead the way in this exciting product market.

• If you are a card processing company that offers these products as part of a larger solution, give us a call as we have special pricing for those companies that resell our products.

• If you are a retailer that's looking to take your gift card products to the next level, you came to the right place because we work with the best processors and we have a card packaging engineer on staff that would love to brainstorm with you.

• If you are a print management company that's looking for an efficient supply chain in this space, we can help you meet all the people you need to meet in order to set up a perfect solution for you customer.
