As our industry moves towards sustainability, it's crucial that print providers engage critically with the people and organizations that are leading the way. Quality Color proudly participates on the stakeholders committee for the SGP. We believe the SGP to be the most credible, verifiable, quantifiable "tent" for us as print providers and print buyers to operate under. There are many, many, shades of green in print and it's important that we all come together and recognize those "best practices" that truly make a difference and make sense. We are currently working with the SGP to create this environment.
